

Christmas Morning

Iwan Rheon

Christmas lights, Christmas morning
Unique snowflakes slowly falling
Like your smile, that is calling me back to you
As I search through my feelings
All I find is the longing
To stay in this perfect moment with you

The honesty you taught me
And the way in which you loved me
Is so clear now, my friend
We've come this far

Winter winds are blowing in
Will you share every Christmas
With me, my darling?
If you come before I wake
I'll remember you as you are
This Christmas morning

One can flick through the photos
Memories for tomorrow
Turn the lights on like we've done every year
Distant bells, new horizons
In your heart, don't be frightened
You taught me to be lighter through the storm

The honesty you taught me
And the way in which you loved me
Is so clear now, my friend
We've come this far

Winter winds are blowing in
Will you share every Christmas
With me, my darling?
If you come before I wake
I'll remember you as you are
This Christmas morning
