

Mama's Only Child

Jake Coco

When I was a young boy, my mother did say son when you grow up it will all be ok :)

And now that i'm older I truly believe that nobodies perfect de spite what you see

"son when your world comes crumbling down, smile cuz you're not alone"

Because every one breaks and everyone burns and everyone loses and misses a turn Everyone crumbles once in a while, but keep y our head up, you're your mama's only child

Don't take it for granted, this little life that you lead for while there may not be glamor in all that you see...
To live is a blessing, to love is a dream one day when you're older, you'll see what I mean and when you realize that life all works out in the end you will smile, cuz you're not alone

Because every one breaks and everyone burns and everyone loses
and misses a turn Everyone crumbles once in a while, but keep your head up, you'r e your mama's only child