Jake Miller

Starin' at the ceiling, tossin' in my bed
It's hard to get some sleep with all these voices in my head
Now I'm in my feelings, and I'm lookin' for some peace
Cause life is like the hardest fuckin' puzzle to complete

They say that its all about timing
Well maybe it's just not my time yet, time yet

So I will keep waiting
And I will be patient
Cause I know that one day it's all gonna click
I'm so close to breaking
Cause nothing is changing
But I know that I've come too far just to quit
And when I look back in 10 years
All the blood, sweat, and tears will be worth it
I'll be my life on it
One day things will click

Ohhhhh, one day things will
Ohhhhh, one day things will

Make a little bit more sense
And maybe I'll get some rest
I can't wait for the day that I throw away
The books that I bought bout how to manifest
And I keep knocking at the door
Of becoming something more than myself
More than myself

They say that its all about timing
Well maybe it's just not my time yet, time yet

So I will keep waiting
And I will be patient
Cause I know that one day it's all gonna click
I'm so close to breaking
Cause nothing is changing
But I know that I've come too far just to quit
And when I look back in 10 years
All the blood, sweat, and tears will be worth it
I'll be my life on it
One day things will click

Ohhhhh, one day things will
Ohhhhh, one day things will click
Ohhhhh, one day things will
Ohhhhh, one day things will click

They say that its all about timing
Well maybe it's just not my time yet, time yet
They say that its all about timing
Well maybe it's just not my time yet

So I will keep waiting
And I will be patient
Cause I know that one day it's all gonna click

I'm so close to breaking
