

Something That You Know

Jamie N Commons

I hate a sad ending
But I really have to go
It's not something I can change now
It's just something that I know
In the darkness of the mind
Still it lingers on
I remember the letters babe
I remember every word

When your heart says stay
But your head says go
You can try to explain it
But is it something that you know
And I'm sorry I can't keep
All the love you've shown
You can try to explain it
But it's just something that you know
It's just something that you know
It's just something that you know
You can try to explain it
But it's just something that you know

And I know it's [?]
Like everything is lost
Don't be sad that it's over
Just be happy that it was
'Cause there's a world outside your window
Step outside to see
It's a feeling inside
It's a feeling that's free

When your heart says stay
But your head says go
You can try to explain it
But is it something that you know
And I'm sorry I can't keep
All the love you've shown
You can try to explain it
But it's just something that you know
It's just something that you know
It's just something that you know
You can try to explain it
But it's just something that you know

You can try to explain it
But it's just something that you know
You can try to explain it

When your heart says stay
But your head says go
But it's just something that you know
It's just something that you know

It's just something that you know
You can try to explain it
But it's just something that you know
