Light a Light

I hear your voice in ev'ry corridor See your face in ev'ry picture frame I feel your eyes in ev'ry starry sky Lover, am I coming home again?

Now am I humble, who once was proud Now am I silent, who once was loud Now am I waiting for the sound of your saying: Lover, am I coming home again?

When you're gone the sun don't shine Light a light, light a light for me Bring me back home again

And how we loved 'til the years were days How we laughed all our tears away And now the time begins to fade Lover, am I coming home again?

There's a wisdom in the teachings of the old familiar songs And a sorrow in repeating all the old familiar wrongs And a lesson to be learned, though I've know all day long Lover, am I coming home again?

Light a light, light a light for me Light a light, light a light for me Light a light, light a light for me Bring me back home again Bring me back home again
