

You Are Everything

Jann Arden

You are everything
You are everything
Shooting star, you are everywhere
You are oxygen
You are medicine
You are everything that's good about the universe
You're the galaxy
A better part of me
And there is nothing that is bigger than the two of us

You are heavenly
You are heavenly
Bleeding heart, hanging on your sleeve
You're a mystery
You are poetry
You are everything that makes me want to laugh out loud
You're the setting sun and you're the rising one
And there is nothing that I'd ever do to keep you down

You are oxygen
You are medicine
You are everything you dream of when you nine years old
You are open wide
A million tears inside
There is nothing that I would not do to keep you well
No, there is nothing that I would not do to keep you well