

Running Away

Jared Anderson

I'm on the outside looking in
I'm at the starting line waiting to begin
I'm at this border town but I'm headed out
I think I'm ready now

Ready to run through every open door
I'm ready to fly from a different shore
I'm ready to hear your voice
To choose your choice
I think i might enjoy
Running Away
Running Away with you
Running Away

Cause nothing in this world looks anything like you
I'm ready to be running away

Your on the inside calling me out
And your at the finish line fighting my doubts
Living in paradise
Still you invite me in to where you are

Your calling me to cross what i cannot see
You carry me on the eagles wings
I can't believe you want any part
Of a broken heart
And yet you want me to start
Running Away
Running Away with you
Running Away
Cause nothing in this world looks anything like you

I'm ready to be running away
To the heavens open wide
To the secret place you hide
To the stars you call by name
To be near your endless grace

Running Away
Running Away with you
Running Away
Cause nothing in this world looks anything like you
Nothing in this world looks anything like you
