

Saturday Drunk

Jason Blaine

I never understood how but it's starting to sink in now
How someone could wind up so far gone
Never thought that I'd be staring down a whiskey
Midweek, this ain't me

But baby I don't wanna be alone
Just wanna find a place to go
Where the music's loud
Lose your memory in this crowd
Where nobody knows your name
I'll sip away the pain
Just forget the fact
You ain't ever coming back
No they don't need a reason or excuse
Why I'm Saturday drunk on a Wednesday afternoon
Whoa-oh-oh-oh

I can save it for the weekend
I'm going off the deep end
Sinking, it's getting hard to breathe

And I don't wanna be alone
Just wanna find a place to go
Where the music's loud
Lose your memory in this crowd
Where nobody knows your name
I'll sip away the pain
Just forget the fact
You ain't ever coming back
No they don't need a reason or excuse
Why I'm Saturday drunk on a Wednesday afternoon
Oh-whoa

I don't wanna be alone
Just wanna find a place to go
Where the music's loud
Lose your memory in this crowd
Where nobody knows your name
I'll sip away the pain
Just forget the fact
You ain't ever coming back
No they don't need a reason or excuse
Oh, I'm Saturday drunk on a Wednesday
I'm Saturday drunk on a Wednesday afternoon
Whoa-oh-oh-oh
I'm Saturday drunk babe
Whoa-oh-oh-oh
