

If I Die I Love You

Jason Lancaster

Have you ever heard the story of boy meets a girl
The boy lost his mind, the girl changed his world
And he counted the seconds that he was away
'Cause as he got further he noticed the gray

Creeping into his eyes
As he near lost his mind
He was blind

He sang please stay, never leave
'Cause as long as you're here I can see
I'm okay as I believe
That there's no place that I'd rather be
So let's keep these cries from the tip of your tongue
And let's keep your eyes on the way that it was
And don't say goodbye

And there has always been something about coming home
How every mile closer wherever he'd roam
He could hear all the sounds in his ears making sense
And feel as the weight from his heart started lifting

His eyes to the sky
To watch clouds passing by
He'd be fine

So stay, never leave
'Cause as long as you're here I can see
And let's keep these cries from the tip of your tongue
And let's keep your eyes on the way that it was
And never forget that this feeling is love
And don't say goodbye
At the end of the story it all starts to make sense
The day she was wandering out past these fences
Remember the glory 'cause he'd always miss this
You know if she left he would miss this to death

So stay, never leave
'Cause as long as you're here I can see
And I'm okay, never leave
There is no place that I'd rather be
So let's keep these cries from the tip of your tongue
And let's keep your eyes on the way that it was
And never forget that this feeling is love
And don't say goodbye (say goodbye)

Have you ever heard the story of boy meets a girl
The boy fell in love, the girl was his world
And the way that she loved him would keep him okay
And things would be perfect 'cause she said she'd stay
