Jeff Black

I feel the lights of town fade
I traded out the retrograde
I don't have much but for what I've saved
Now I'm headed home

Wind is whistling through the wing
No radio so I sing
Yesterday feels like a dream
Now I'm headed home

Rolling through the dark of night
No one in sight this time I am flying
Wheels above the ground
The only sound is me
Living now not dying

I love a girl who brings good news
The color of her eyes are changing blues
One true kiss I can't refuse
Now I'm on my way

Sending out my signal flare
God thank you for my answered prayer
Keep her safe until I get there
Now I'm headed home
