

Double Crown

Jelly Roll

Only thing I need right now
Is something stronger than this double crown
It's going down down, all the way down
I don't know if I can find my way out
They got me taking pills that they gave me
Hoping that I can feel something, but I feel nothing
I can't escape the memory of taking everything
That was real from me, yea I'm still nothing

I'm all alone on this path that I follow
To drown out my sorrows I'm back to the bottle
It's real humble pie that I'm having to swallow
I swear I can't tell you a half of my problems
Came from the bottom, this isn't new to me
Dealt with the fake friends, dealt with the foolery
Now that I'm grown, usually home with the family alone
And I swear that shit cool with me

Grown ass men does grown man shit
How you need another grown man to pay your rent
That don't make no sense
[?] most these men

Pray to my knees hurt, Lord knows I done it
It's a lot of loneliness on this road I'm running
So high does the crash use a nose dive plummet
Learn no good deed goes unpunished

Only thing I need right now
Is something stronger than this double crown
It's going down down, all the way down
I don't know if I can find my way out
They got me taking pills that they gave me
Hoping that I can feel something, but I feel nothing
I can't escape the memory of taking everything
That was real from me, yea I'm still nothing

I don't understand why they try my patience
Know I'mma wait for the right occasion
I feel like I really need isolation
Or the monster inside of myself might awaken
Look at my past and I still can't believe it
My daughter she gave me a chance and a reason
Most of the time I'm at war with myself
Some of the time I just dance with my demons
I know when I'm wrong, guilty as sinned
I can't describe how I'm feeling within
I just express it and askin this question
If this depression never really will end
Don't understand why I feel this way
I don't understand why I feel so caged
Wonder why my life always feel so staged
Trying to make sure that the bills get paid

Only thing I need right now
Is something stronger than this double crown
It's going down down, all the way down

I don't know if I can find my way out
They got me taking pills that they gave me
Hoping that I can feel something, but I feel nothing
I can't escape the memory of taking everything
That was real from me, yea I'm still nothing

Only thing I need right now
Is something stronger than this double crown
It's going down down, all the way down
I don't know if I can find my way out
They got me taking pills that they gave me
Hoping that I can feel something, but I feel nothing
