A certain way you dance around And crack a smile and break me down After the third act when you come home You turn it off and turn me on

When you're taken by the moment
When you forget what you're thinking and you say what you reall y feel
When you're in-between poses
And when your laughter takes over That's when you're floating with the angels, that's when you're floating with
The angels

For such a softie, you try so hard You get so angry that you're not a star But if you could show them what you show me In your pajamas acting like you're three

When you're taken by the moment
When you forget what you're thinking and you say what you reall
y feel
When you're in-between poses
And when your laughter takes over
That's when you're floating with the angels, that's when you're floating with
The angels

And when you laugh a little too loud
And spill your coffee all over
And when you're singing in the shower
I see your cup runneth over
And chocolate sundaes make you smile
And Monday morning, stay awhile you're beautiful

When you're taken by the moment
When you forget what you're thinking and you say what you reall
y feel
When you're in-between poses
And when your laughter takes over
That's when you're floating with the angels, that's when you're floating with

The angels
