

And I Remember Every Kiss

Jens Lekman

There will be no kisses tonight there will be no holding hands tonight cause what is now wasn't there before and should not be

I know I've broken some hearts, I understand some firecrackers blow up in your hand oh I fked up, I've always tried to be true

But I would never kiss anyone who doesn't burn me like the sun
and I remember every kiss
like my first kiss
like my first kiss

When I think back on that night it was lovely vital aching in your dad's 240 but I would like to keep the memory of that kiss as it is

Things get more complicated when you're older before you know it you are somebody's soldier you get a gun and you name it after a girlfriend

But I swear I'll never kiss anyone who doesn't burn me like the sun and I will cherish every kiss
like my first kiss
like my first kiss
like my first kiss