

Many Moons

Jillette Johnson

Close my eyes and all the sudden, I'm in Bogota
With my college freshman roommate, I'm not in the room at all
I'm lost in a shopping mall smelling of alcohol

In another world in my mind, in my mind, in my mind
In another lifetime, lifetime, lifetime
Another world in my mind

Oh to be 18 again in South America
Sleeping in a hammock on the beach with a stranger
Without knowing the danger of anything at all

In another world in my mind, in my mind, in my mind
In another lifetime, lifetime, lifetime
Another world in my mind

I remember when I was invincible
Now that sun has set, many moons ago
I was in control
That was many moons ago

In my mind, in my mind, in my mind
Another lifetime, lifetime, lifetime
Another world in my mind
In my mind, in my mind, in my mind
Another lifetime, lifetime, lifetime
Another world in my mind
