

Trusted

Jillian Edwards

Running through the rain
The sky just fell down
You whisper my name
I hear it loud
Don't know where we are
Don't know how this ends
But even in the dark
I'm leaning in
If the storm doesn't blow over
If the clouds never part
You will hold me in Your arms
This is where You can be trusted
This is where You know the way
This is the part where You carry me and I bury my face
Deep into Your shoulder, and I just need to get closer
You've already won my war, and I'm the one You're fighting for
This is where You can be trusted
I can feel your heartbeat
When You pull me to Your chest
You're the place where I can breathe
Where I can rest
Your footsteps on the ground
Are steady in the night
Your voice is the sound
Keeping me alive
If the storm doesn't blow over

If the clouds never part
This is where You can be trusted
This is where You know the way
This is the part where You carry me and I bury my face
Deep into your shoulder, and I just need to get closer
You've already won my war, and I'm the one you're fighting for
This is where You can be trusted
You can be trusted
There's never been a moment
There's never been a day
You ever let me go
You ever looked away
You're holding it together
When the pieces come apart
You're pulling me in closer
Cause that's just who You are
This is where You can be trusted
This is where You know the way
This is the part where You carry me and I bury my face
Deep into Your shoulder, and I just need to get closer
You've already won my war, and I'm the one You're fighting for
This is where You can be trusted