

Beautiful Lies

Jim Ed Brown

Beautiful lies beautiful lies each word is a heartache in perfect disguise

I can't help but listen and then realize the words you have spoken are beautiful lies

Call me a dreamer in a fool's paradise

My heart knows no difference at love that's unwise

Tell me you love me and will till you die like music you thrill me with beautiful lies

I hear wedding bells ringing have stars in my eyes

I see red roses blooming a rainbow in the sky

All sweet things come to me and the twinkle of an eye

When you hold and tell me those beautiful lies

Beautiful lies beautiful lies...