Lock & Key

Joe Henry

Holy cow, look what you've done You've got me now so I can't speak I wonder how you turned out the stars I hear your laugh

Like falling railway cars, Far and away, peaking through the bars Safe behind your own lock and key Safe for now from me

God only knows how I love you But God and His ghost And His roadhouse crew Ran me out of town on a silver rail Free at last and begging Him for jail
