

In Your Eyes

Joe Lynn Turner

I've been waiting all my life
To find someone to make things right
My faith was broken my hope was gone
But part of me was holding on

Another time another place
I close my eyes to say a prayer
And nothing you mean to me
Love is a mystery....
And baby you hold the key in your eyes
In your eyes

My gypsy heart well it did roam
Around the world to find a home
And through the fires of misguided youth
I finally found the missing truth

And like the sea washes the sand
I want to lose myself in you
Maybe some day you'll understand
How much I need you... I do

One look and I can see...
everything you mean to me
In your eyes
Visions of my fantasy
Everything I want to be
In your eyes

tell me that I'm not dreaming
I never felt like this before
And now my life has meaning
My heart has wings and you opened the door

One look and I can see...
Everything you mean to me
In your eyes
Love is a mystery...
And baby you hold the key in your eyes
In your eyes
