

Let Me Love You Again

Joe Lynn Turner

Time can't ever heal the wounds or ease the heartache
Tears can't ever wash away this loneliness
I held love in my hands and somehow
I let it slip
Away from me, oh now I see

All I want is to love you
All I want is to hold you again
I never meant to hurt you
Now I'm on the losing end
And it's to late to pretend
Baby let me love you again

In my life I never really thought that love
Would find me oh now it's gone
In you, in you I found the part of me
That had been missing oh for so long
I can see I was wrong now I know
Without you I just can't go on
No not for long

All I want is to love you
All I want is to hold you again
I never meant to hurt you
Now I'm on the losing end
And it's to late to pretend
Baby let me love you again

This time I realize there'll be no excuses
No compromising It won't be like before
Honey this time it's for sure

I never meant to hurt you
Now I'm on the losing end
And it's to late to pretend
Baby let me love you again