

If You Lose Her

Joe

So you think that's
A Flicker in your flame
But you're regiment of a loving her
Still the same,
Forgot holidays
Forsaking a little things
It means so much to her but You let it slip away

Like a gambles game
Your risking every thing
And even thou the stakes are high
You playing with her heart
Before your card get full
Before you roll the dice
Just realize
How much it's gonna cost

If You Lose Her (you lose her)
There be a hole in your soul
There be no Grave
Deep enough To bury the pain
Don't be a fool
If You Lose Her
You may not see it now
But when she's gone you'll know how much she's worth

Alone, ooh,

She's always last on your list
She's starving for affection
But you turn a blind eye
Cuz you hear her say, honey is ok
Something deep down sais give her more attention
But instead you tell the truth you prefer a masquerade

Like a gambles game
Your risking every thing
And even thou the stakes are high
You playing with her heart
And now she's slowly
Starts to slip away
You realize
How much it's gonna cost

If you lose her (you lose her)
There be a hole in your soul
There be no Grave
Deep enough To bury the pain
Don't be a fool
If you lose her
You may not see it now

If You Lose Her

If I were you I just wouldn't take that chance
Cuz when the tides of change roll in

She'll be gone like footprint in the sand

If you lose her (you lose her)

Hole in your soul

There be no Grave

Deep enough To bury the pain

Don't be a fool

If you lose her

You may not see it now

But when she's gone you'll know how much she's worth

If You Lose Her

Hole in your soul

If You Lose Her

No Grave

Don't be a fool

If You Lose Her

You may not see it now

But when she's gone you'll know how much she's worth
