

Honky Tonk Hearts

John Anderson

I see across the dance floor and you're somethin' to see
I smile at you and I say, "Will you dance with me?"
I hold you in the shadows and while the feelin' grows
Something seems to tell me we've both felt this before

Honky tonk hearts fall in love easy
And it's so easy when you hold each other tight
Honky tonk hearts, believing forever
But it always looks different in the bright morning light

Well, maybe it's the music or maybe it's the wine
But something feels like love does with your body close to me
I say things I shouldn't and you believe that they're true
Oh, at least for tonight I'll believe them too

Honky tonk hearts fall in love easy
And it's so easy when you hold each other tight
Honky tonk hearts, believing forever
But it always looks different in the bright morning light

Honky tonk hearts fall in love easy
And it's so easy when you hold each other tight...
