

The Will of God

John Anderson

It was just a tiny drop into the water
But the ripple from that little drop became
A tidal wave so mighty and so forceful

That it took the will of God to make it tame
Yes it took the will of God to make it tame

It was just a baby's cry out in the silence
But the echo from that little voice became
A sound so loud it deafened all around him
And it took the will of God to make it tame
Yes it took the will of God to make it tame

Oh the will of God is stronger than the storm clouds in the sky
It is stronger than men shouting or a tiny baby's cry
Oh the will of God is strength that he sends from up above
And we all know the will of God is love

It was just a tiny flicker in the darkness
But the heat from that flicker soon became
Hotter than the devil's hottest fire
And it took the will of God to make it tame
Yes it took the will of God to make it tame

Oh the will of God is stronger than the storm clouds in the sky
It is stronger than men shouting or a tiny baby's cry
Yeah the will of God is strength that he sends from up above
And we all know the will of God is love
