

Too Tough to Tame

John Anderson

My friends all try to tell me, she'll only break your heart
She'll leave your mind in pieces and tear your world apart
She'll take your love for better and leave you here for worse
Somewhere between a blessing and a curse

She's just too hard to handle, she's been too wild too long
In a class all by herself, in a world of her own
She loves the way she's livin' and she won't ever change
She's just too hard to handle, she's too tough to tame

Like a wild horse in the desert I tried to bring her in
I built a house around her but she broke out again
Now only in my memory I hold her in the dark
She's locked away forever in my heart

She's just too hard to handle, she's been too wild too long
In a class all by herself, in a world of her own
She loves the way she's livin' and she won't ever change
She's just too hard to handle, she's too tough to tame

She's just too hard to handle, she's been too wild too long
In a class all by herself, in a world of her own
She loves the way she's livin' and she won't ever change
She's just too hard to handle, she's too tough to tame
She's just too hard to handle, she's too tough to tame