You Must Be Crazy

John Mayall

You must be crazy woman

If you don't believe that I love you

When you cry and get unhappy

You don't know how it hurts me too

With a little understanding We'll get to know each other's ways With a little bit of patience We'd never have unhappy days

I love your lovemaking
Never knew it could be such a game
If you ever left me lonely
I know I'd never be the same

You must be going crazy
If you don't believe that I'm with you
If I had to live without you
I don't know what I'd ever do
