

A man and his time machine
A light in the darkness gleams
Ride through the window to the world
White horse of chrome and steel
Mesmerized spinning wheels
On leather wings soaring into the sun

Innocence light the way
Strike til the darkness unfolds
There's no turning back, I'm afraid
Out of the nighttime so cold

Can you hear them callin', inner voices callin' you
Headed for the dawning, eastern horizon
Can you hear them callin', inner voices beckon you
Heard it never ends there, eastern horizon

So many miles between realistic thoughts and dreams
We'll keep on ridin' to the end
Stallion of iron with wheels
Live just to hear, see and feel
With Brother Northwind my closest friend

Innocence light the way
Strike til the darkness unfolds
There's no turning back, I'm afraid
Out of the nighttime so cold

Can you hear them callin', inner voices callin' you
Headed for the dawning, eastern horizon
Can you hear them callin', inner voices beckon you
Heard it never ends there, eastern horizon

A man and his time machine
A light in the darkness gleams
Ride through the window to the world
White horse of chrome and steel
Mesmerized spinning wheels
On leather wings soaring into the sun

Innocence light the way
Strike til the darkness unfolds
There's no turning back, I'm afraid
Out of the nighttime so cold

Can you hear them callin', inner voices callin' you
Headed for the dawning, eastern horizon
Can you hear them callin', inner voices beckon you
Heard it never ends there, eastern horizon