

Veil of the Blind

John West

Rhythm of the rain beating in my brain
Blowing straight into my face
Are you next to me? Are you really far away?

Trying to hit my mark hiding in the dark
Waiting for the light
If they don't find me here
Everything will be alright

And all of the things and all the memories
In my mind have slowly faded... away
And now I return the link to the chain of my life

Cold is the night, always dark before the dawn
This is the truth you will find
Winning the fight though your eyes can hardly see
Beyond the veil of the blind

Lookin' all around when will they be found
You know this just might be the one
Will you carry me if I ever start to fall?
Standing in the rain really can't explain
How we ever got to here
If they don't see us here everything will be just fine

And all of the things and all the memories
In my mind have slowly faded... away
And now I return the link to the chain of my life

Cold is the night, always dark before the dawn
This is the truth you will find
Winning the fight though your eyes can hardly see
Beyond the veil of the blind

Rhythm of the rain beating in my brain
Blowing straight into my face
Are you next to me? Are you really far away?

Trying to hit my mark hiding in the dark
Waiting for the light
If they don't find me here, everything will be alright

And all of the things and all the memories
In my mind have slowly faded... away
And now I return the link to the chain of my life

Cold is the night, always dark before the dawn
This is the truth you will find
With all your might find the strength to carry on
Look what's ahead and behind
Winning the fight, through your eyes can hardly see
Beyond the veil of the blind
