

The Woman Who Put Me Here

Johnny Paycheck

Let's drink a toast to this honky tonk we're standin' in
And for the man behind the bar who pours the beer
One for the band who plays the songs and makes us want to cry
And the rest for the woman who put me here

That woman had the smile of an angel
You never think that she could do no wrong
But that woman with the smile of an angel
Makes the devil out of a man like me that don't take long

So if you don't mind I'll take a little time to share a few more tears
Let's drink a toast to the woman who put me here

Yes if you don't mind I'll take a little time to share a few more tears
Let's drink a toast for the woman who put me here
