

Throw It on the Fire

Jon McLaughlin

Everything's innuendo since I saw your face
Foggy hearts on the windows have all been erased
You say, "How have you been?"
But you say things that you didn't intend
Now we both try to defend that we're fine

My mind's made decisions and my heart's made some deals
One is thinking I'm over while the other one heals
See I don't need to believe
That you're sitting around thinking about me
I just need you to see that I'm fine

So take this broken life I'm living
And take this love I can't stop giving
And throw it on the fire
Throw it on the fire
Throw it on the fire
Throw it on the fire

I've tried to move on but I've made up my mind
And my life without you just feels like time
I don't need some new friends, no
I don't need cheering up on the weekends
I'll draw the shades and pretend that you're mine

Take this broken life I'm living
And take this love I can't stop giving
And throw it on the fire
Throw it on the fire
Throw it on the fire
Throw it on the fire

Take this broken life I'm living
And take this love I won't stop giving
And throw it on the fire

Take this broken life I'm living
And take this love I can't stop giving
And throw it on the fire
Throw it on the fire
Throw it on the fire
Throw it on the fire
