

Heartbeatin'

Josh Abbott Band

I just needed a jump start
I was broke down hard and pale[?]
Nothing much but a quick spark
Charge to ease the pain
And that kiss killed me, healed me, chilled me
Through this ol' boy to the core
Yeah, you lit the flame, I'm playing
And I wanna keep coming on back for more

Oh, you got my heart beatin' baby, beatin' me to death
Like a nine pound hammer, an earthquake in my chest
You lit up my soul like that old rock and roll
You got my heart beatin' baby, beatin' me to death

Had no idea what I was getting into
When you walked by and caught my eye
I jumped on into the best kind of hurting
Girl, I'd be lucky to survive

Oh, you got my heart beatin' baby, beatin' me to death
Like a nine pound hammer, an earthquake in my chest
You lit up my soul like that old rock and roll
You got my heart beatin' baby, beatin' me to death

Oh, you got my heart beatin' baby, beatin' me to death
Like a nine pound hammer, an earthquake in my chest
You lit up my soul like that old rock and roll
You got my heart beatin' baby, beatin' me to death

Oh, you got my heart beatin' baby, beatin' me to death
Like a nine pound hammer, an earthquake in my chest
You lit up my soul like that old rock and roll
You got my heart beatin' baby, beatin' me to death

Oh, beatin' me to death, oh yeah
