

Here's Where We Begin

Joshua Radin

Storm's coming up on the horizon
Batten the hatches, keep yourself from harm
But if those northern winds are too strong
And all the world come crashing in
Here's where we begin

Taken for granted, now you're all alone
You believed in someone who let you down
It seems like the end but it's not over
You've shunned the new day, won't let it in
Here's where we begin

I'll come running for you
Your whole world's turned upside down
But my love, it will keep you
On solid ground

I'll come running for you
I'll be the friend you need
I'll come running
