We laughed out loud til we cried

And the tears were sweet

Midnight melted to morning

A moment faded to memory

All these days just slip away through our fingers

So... Don't let go
Hold onto every moment
Always know
Hold on to every moment that You can

We move on with no regrets to our destiny Held by the hands of the Father
We share His love and He leads us through All these days
Cause they slip away through our fingers
So...

So... Don't let go
Hold onto every moment
Always know
Hold on to every moment that You can

Running through yesterday into tomorrow Don't let it just drift away Forget about tying the hands of time Give every minute to the One who's given today

So... Don't let go
Hold onto every moment
Always know
Hold on to every moment that You can
