

Run to Waters

Justin Nozuka

Emerald in the sea
Calling out to thee
Whether the eyes find a way
To watch out over
Early on this side
Alone with just the air
Only the common tern
Was truly aware

Followed by a softer fade
A thunder cloud provided shade
The roar and its daring parade
The way that it holds
Until it slows to the wonder
The wonder in the air

Eva's in the womb
Obachan's in the tomb
Wade in the water
Till I drifted down
Over these old walls
And into mother's hands
I was a boy
Now I suppose I'm a man

I fit in an auburn mane
Comfort in the heavy rain
Ready to take the blame
The rises to ruins
The loveliest noons
The wonders, yeah, the wonders in the air

Run run run run to waters
It's all I need
Under the mother wave
Where I can hide away
Run run run run to waters
It's all in me
Where I can hide away
When I need to escape

Earth and roam to run
Free under the sun
I dream to hold
The emerald I saw in the sea
Would I let it be
Or take it back with me
Every move
Does it really change oh
Our whole destiny

Moving I see it's old
The opening and then the fold
I guess even if it breaks
The hot or the cold
The water still holds
The wonders, yeah, the wonders in the air

Run run run run to waters
All I need
And under the mother wave
Where I can hide away
It's all in me

Lines and wolves
Binds and rules
Leading fools
Lies, oh...
Lines and wolves
Binds and rules
Leading fools
Lies, oh...

Run run run run to waters
It's all I need

Run run run run to waters
It's all in me
Where I can hide away
When I need to escape
Run run run run to waters
It's all I need
