

How Do You Know?

K. Michelle

I'd rather be cold
Than wrapped up in love
Can't seem to get it right
Can't seem to get it right
Fill me up
And still leave me a little dry
Love comes and cleans you out
Love's got an enemy now

How can I forget about the past?
So easily and start again

How do you know?
How do you know?
When you've given him everything
And he still made a mess of things
How do you know, know know know?

Oh, it feels so good in the moment
But it's just the moment, that'll soon be over
Once my thoughts are sober
And I'll trade it all love just to believe again
Looking for reasons why it's never the right time

How do I forget about the past?
So easily and start again

How do you know?
How do you know?
When you've given him everything
And he still made a mess of things
How do you know?

We don't understand it's worth until it hurts
Sometimes we're so blinded
And always reminded
What's all the fear made me mess it up again
Maybe it was me, maybe it was him
But I just don't know
Don't know which way to go

How do you know?
How do you know?
When you've given him everything
And you still made a mess of things
How do you know?
