

El Diablo Amor

Joshua Kadison

Once upon a time
In a little Spanish town
There lived a girl who played guitar
They came from all around

She sang of all their laughter
She sang of all their pains
She knew their lives
And wove them into sweet guitar refrains

There were the songs she sang for lovers
There were the songs she sang for the souls departed
There were the songs she sang for dreamers
This is the song she sang for the broken hearted

El Diablo Amor
El Diablo Amor
That ol' devil they call love
Broke another heart again

El Diablo Amor
El Diablo Amor
That ol' devil they call love
Broke another heart again

The way she played the music
The way she sang the tune
In service to the sacred soul
She was a mistress of the moon

There were the songs she sang for lovers
There were the songs she sang for the souls departed
There were the songs she sang for dreamers
This is the song she sang for the broken hearted

El Diablo Amor
El Diablo Amor
That ol' devil they call love
Broke another heart again

El Diablo Amor
El Diablo Amor
That ol' devil they call love
Broke another heart again

El Diablo Amor
El Diablo Amor
That ol' devil they call love
Broke another heart again

El Diablo Amor
El Diablo Amor
That ol' devil they call love
Broke another heart again
