

Don't Open Your Eyes

Kansas

Who sees you when you're sleeping?
Who knows the thoughts you're keeping?
You're reaching out your hand 'cause someone's falling
Don't open your eyes to see 'cause it might be me

The darkened side streets that you've taken
Faces all around say you're forsaken
You see yourself and someone else behind you
Don't open your eyes too soon, it might not be me

Haunted by my broken dreams
Haunted by my empty screams

Creeping cautions 'round the corner
Climbing slowly out the window
Running fast but getting nowhere
Don't know if I'll ever make it back alive

Haunted by my broken dreams
Haunted by my empty screams

Who sees you when you're sleeping?
Who knows the thoughts you're keeping?
You're reaching out your hand 'cause someone's falling
Don't open your eyes to see 'cause it might be me

Don't open your eyes to see 'cause it might be me