Buried deep under blood and skin

A whisper a tempest is raging from within

I hold my breath bitter proud

Afraid to scream fire in the middle of a crowd

I ponder incision envision the brain

I beckon the surgeon to a slice against the grain now that I've waisted you the white room is pure the doctors are brave

If there's a cure I want to be saved

Sanctuary

Under the knife sharp and shiny key
Repair redeem resurrection
Under the knife they'll cut you out of me
Maybe love's imitation is life under the knife

I have come to determine a reasonable doubt Where heaven and hell draw their boundary lines about Now that I've waisted you now that I've tasted you The white room had frost on the cold window pane Your love had been lost my love was in vain Sanctuary

Cynical splices stitch and install Solder the filaments I feel nothing at all
Second wind secrets let them rise let them fall
I'll walk through your firestorm but never never crawl
The gambler lives the blood stain dries
It's time to forgive I open my eyes
Sanctuary