

Out of the Cage

Karin Park

You told me welcome, I took off my shoes
I shut the door and there was me and you
And we decided this is all we need
Our own religion that we both believe

As every other ideology
Beauty's trapped inside the theory
We got uglier as days went by
There is no make-up for this kind of lie
Ooh in silence, ooh in silence

My heart is out of the cage
My heart has lost control
Back into the wilderness
Hunting for a soul

My heart is out of the cage
My heart has lost control
Back into the wilderness
Hunting for a soul

You dropped the bomb and wiped the others out

And I got blinded from your nuclear light
So we became each other's terrorist
With silent weapons and with tightened fists
Ooh in silence, ooh in silence

My heart is out of the cage
My heart has lost control
Back into the wilderness
Hunting for a soul

My heart is out of the cage
My heart has lost control
Back into the wilderness
Hunting for a soul

In the morning light after the clash
I'm always buried under piles of trash
I am beaten but refuse to leave
You're my religion and I still believe
You're my religion and I still believe
