

Opened

Kathryn Williams

Nights have fallen down on you
Because of him
Claustrophobic, sleeping hot
Law can't keep the power
That you want within

But who is your future resting its head upon?
Will you love in the same way?
Or will it come back unopened?

Change came unexpected
Like it always does
You either move with it
Or run away from it's clutches
But it will come back

Where is your future going to settle down?
Will you move pushing boundaries?
Or leave them unopened?

Is this your future holding back your heart?
Keeping it at a distance
To never be unopened
To never be opened