Look Me In the Eye

Kazzer

I get a phone call late at night and head it down town, Direct attention to the show I heard it sold out
Not out to look for trouble, somehow it finds me Roll out with confidence, maybe it's just the timing, never a loss for words so confrontations they end quick Won't sympathize pathetic tries they go unheard without a hitch
I got it down to a science, your still developmental Found in the used section, collection non-essential,

You wanted war, but suffering is tougher than the fall
There's nothing when you're standin on the wall
Find yourself, you're out of line, I built these walls, quit wa sting my time, I'll hit it All night long, I really can't go wrong cause I'll set things r ight.

You got your diamond and your platinum credit card wealth,
I guess somebody loves you why can't you love yourself,
You're so predictable that claim to fame is over rated
You're better off runnin, you couldn't see me comin'

You wanted war, but suffering is tougher than the fall
There's nothing when you're standin on the wall
Find yourself, you're out of line, I built these walls, quit wa
sting my time, I'll hit it
All night long, I really can't go wrong cause I'll set things r ight.

You wanted war but suffering is tougher than the fall
There's nothing when your standin on the wall
You love to walk and talk with artificial tendencies
I live the life of sin without luxuries
Time for a mental check up, no time for indecisions I'm only lookin up while you fuckin lack direction, and….

You wanted war, but suffering is tougher than the fall
There's nothing when you're standin on the wall
Find yourself, you're out of line, I built these walls, quit wa
sting my time, I'll hit it
All night long, I really can't go wrong cause I'll set things r ight...

What makes you think you can look me in the eye