

Something In Me Was Dying

Keane

Something in me was dying
And my heart was heavy as stone
Hard as I was trying
I never could find, find my way home
And your voice came out of nowhere
"Be my friend and give me your hand
Let's take off together
And then we can live wherever we land"

Something in me was broken
And my thoughts were bitter and ill
My world was blown open
And I couldn't see and I couldn't feel
You said "Be yourself and think of me
And you'll know there's nothing to fear
Let's make plans together
It's time to move on and and get out of here"

Girl I need you, don't know what I would do
Will you see the story through
It's a cruel world and I need somewhere to hide
But time goes by and you're still on my side

Something in me was sinking
Cos my heart was heavy as stone
I gave up, was thinking
I never would find, find my way home
And your voice came out of nowhere
"Be my friend and give me your hand
Let's take off together
And then we can live wherever we land"

Girl I need you, don't know what I could do
Will you see the story through
It's a cruel world and I need somewhere to hide
But time goes by and you're still on my side

Waiting, searching
Turning over
Running round in circles
And I've worn myself out
Hoping that we'll always be together
Yeah we'll always be together
Yeah we'll always be together
Yeah we'll always be together
Yeah we'll always be together
