

Graveyard

Kelsea Ballerini

I don't wanna be another skeleton in your closet
Another rose that you throw, cause you know that it ain't okay
Just a name on a stone in a row down the road forgotten
Cause I was falling fast, now I'm just a dash between two dates

I don't wanna be another heart in your graveyard
In the cold, hard dirt that you throw down
I don't wanna watch you drive away in a black car to a new bar

So you can find another hopeless, broken girl in a little black dress
And you take her, break her, lay her heart to rest in peace
Right here next to me

Maybe I was naive to believe you would never hurt me
But now I know why you hide in your darkest suit and shades?
You put on a show, so nobody knows your hands and your shoes are dirt y
I guess you don't need a shovel to dig a grave

I don't wanna be another heart in your graveyard
In the cold, hard dirt that you throw down
I don't wanna watch you drive away in a black car to a new bar

So you can find another hopeless, broken girl in a little black dress
And you take her, break her, lay her heart to rest in peace
Right here next to me, yeah

You gonna go out one night when you see me out
Cause the ghost of a broken heart don't stay six feet down
You gonna go out one night when you see me out
Cause the ghost of a broken heart don't stay six feet down

I don't wanna be another heart in your graveyard
In the cold, hard dirt that you throw down
I don't wanna watch you drive away in a black car to a new bar

So you can find another hopeless, broken girl in a little black dress
And you take her, break her, lay her heart to rest in peace
Right here next to me

Hopeless, broken girl
And you just take her, break her heart
Let her rest in peace
Right there next to me
I don't wanna be another heart
I don't wanna be another heart
In your graveyard, babe
In your graveyard, hey
