

Suddenly

Ken Hensley

Suddenly my day became night
Darkness killed the light
And pat a knife through my heart

Suddenly I heard a voice
Somewhere inside of me
I thought I heard it say "Don't turn away"

Was I chasing a dream that was never to come
Like an empty refrain or a sad, intoxicated drum
Will this nightmare put an end to the road that I chose
Or is this it...
Is my story coming to a close suddenly?

I'm on the wrong planet at the wrong time
The winds of torment shattered every hope of mine
This isn't my moon, no this isn't my sun
And I'm still dancing to the beat of that invisible drum
Is this it?
Is my life really coming to a close so suddenly?

Suddenly another voice
This one gentle and clear
"When you've finished the task I have given you there
Come on home, you are welcome here"
