

They Almost Got Me

Kenotia

I sang the song the blackbird sings, a song so blue.
A requiem for the dreams he never knew. I never knew what I missed when I'm so focused on things I can't undo. Standing's only half the battle now I have to move.

Finally everything's unfolding now,
I'd forgotten how life can pick you up when it spits you out.
I'm ok now.
I'm forgetting all the years I spent hoping things would change.
Today is a good day, a good day.

I'll take this time to be thankful for all the days I'm given cuz every moment spent on wishes is a moment I'm missing.
I don't want to waste my time, I want to be there for life.
I don't want to waste my time, this is my life.

Finally everything's unfolding now,
I'd forgotten how life can pick you up when it spits you out.
I'm ok now.
I'm forgetting all the years I spent hoping things would change.
Today is a good day, a good day.

It's never late, things can change. Everyday has a meaning. And I know when things get hard you want to run away.
but these things you can face and this fate you can change.
And this place will hold joy if you stay where you are,
don't you push it away.

Finally everything's unfolding now,
I'd forgotten how life can pick you up when it spits you out.
I'm ok now.
I'm forgetting all the years I spent hoping things would change.
Today is a good day, a good day