

The House of the Rising Flood

Kevin Bloody Wilson

This next song I sorta wrote it about uh, about somethin' that happened in America early last year the uh, the floods down in New Orleans, and I did this song in Nashville and nobody laughed ex cept
about a dozen Aussies they thought it was piss funny, the rest of 'em was like "Hey man, you can't talk about that shit", fuck can't ya? Ha, have a listen see you reckon.

There is, a house, in New Orleans,
That's now, in Tennessee,
Goes to prove, that backyard pools, Ain't as cool, as they used to be.

Walt Disney's about to shoot an animated movie out in New Orlea ns,
it's called 'Finding Negro'.

The lawlessness, and the looting,
And the pillaging, had begun,
They sent volunteers, from Redfern,
To show 'em how it's done.

They're gonna go ahead with the marty grower again this year, t hey reckon they got more floats than they've ever had.

So mothers, tell your children,
George Bush, says he knows who done it,
They found he claims, the drown remains,
Of a Muslim, suicide plumber.

In the house, of the rising flood.
