

Whatever You Say

Kim-Lian

I'm waking up - I'm watching you and I finally accept what's coming I'm breaking out - I find myself taking off towards the life I'm missing

I'm being told by intuition that I have to let go I'm gonna make it my decision whatever you say - whatever you do it will never be same again I promise you you're slowing me down - blocking my way this is over now - whatever you say

I'm falling down from what we had and I fade into a new dimension I'm suddenly so damn aware that I never paid myself attention

I'm being told by intuition
that I have to let go
I'm gonna make it my decision

whatever you say - whatever you do
it will never be same again I promise you
you're slowing me down - blocking my way
this is over now - whatever you say how could I ever be so blind so afraid of something new I'm sorry now I'm happy leaving you I'm gonna have to break away there is nothing you can do (whatever you say - oh no)

whatever you say - whatever you do
it will never be same again I promise you
you're slowing me down - blocking my way
this is over now - whatever you say

whatever you say
whatever you do you're slowing me down

this is over now - whatever you say