

Country's Written All over Me

Kira Isabella

Well he's a 6 foot 6 teddy bear
And all my friends just call him Country
A backwards hat over messy brown hair
And that southern drawl's really something

Since he asked me out on our first date
Just a few short weeks ago
Everywhere I can, I'm writing his name
Cause I want the whole town to know

It's written on the back windshield of my car
It's written in ink on my left arm
I carved it in that old oak tree
Country's written all over me

It's written on my nails in pure hot pink
On my guitar in permanent ink
And on my smile every time he kisses me
Country's written all over me

He likes Hank, and I love Luke
I drive a Jeep, he rides that tractor
I love my heels, he wears muddy work boots
And I'm the lucky girl he's after

Last Friday night, a couple ole boys
Didn't know who I was with
They started workin' on me, Country stood up
And sent 'em home with a bloody lip

It's written on the back windshield of my car
Written in blood on the floor of that bar
I carved it on that old bar seat
Country's written all over me

It's written on my lips in shiny hot pink
On my bedroom wall in permanent ink
And on my smile every time he kisses me
Country's written all over me

July night, full moon
I did what my momma told me never to do
I got a tattoo, now the world can see
I love Country
Yea, I love Country
Country's written all over me

It's written in ink on my left arm
Six feet high on my daddy's barn
Forever for the world to see
Country's written all over me

Spray painted on the only bridge in this town
On every back road abandoned house
And on my smile every time he kisses me
Yea, I love Country
Country's written all over me
