Pink Champagne

Kitten

It's not what I thought it would be when I fell into this kind of life
Controversy set on a field of bright color
It's just an image of love
It's just a catalog aesthetic
Shattered luxury, I can't believe the shit I put up with this v anity for nothing

You always said I was wrong but you needed help
You only string me along and think of yourself
Was a fool for the glamour, but you're gonna see
Just how it feels without me

You're never gonna get that far alone
Sippin' on that pink champagne alone
You're gonna need to learn to walk again
You're never gonna get that far alone

Started to become a rather [?], I don't know why
Just here tryin' to control my life
Walk in with a halo as you ruin yet another night
Paradise at the bottom of a thousand dollar bottle of wine

You always said I was wrong but you needed help
You only string me along and think of yourself
Was a fool for the glamour, but you're gonna see
Just how it feels without me

You're never gonna get that far alone
Sippin' on that pink champagne alone
You're gonna need to learn to walk again
You're never gonna get that far alone

No, you're never gonna get that far alone
No, you're never gonna get that far alone
(You're never gonna get that far alone)
