

Rain Bird

Klone

My hope is falling down...
Come to me my bird king
All the stars I steal for you...
Make me shine, my leading light

And by the sound of rain, you come
Blacken the light, the thunder rumbles
I sing to you bird friend, until my voice dies
Protect me one more time...
Give me the vital, give me the rain

And by the sound of rain, you come
Blacken the light, the thunder rumbles
Break up the silence, the cries of the thunder
Invading my present, and drown my suffering

Kill the pain. Eat the worms that devour my inner-self

Give the rain, give the sound.
Blackened is the sky, love the rain bird

It's time for you to sing my friend
And fly away, help me once again

And by the sound of rain, you come
Blacken the light, and love the rain bird

And by the sound of rain, you come
Blacken the light, the thunder rumbles

And by the sound of rain, you come
Blacken the light, the thunder rumbles