

Time to Rise

Knorkator

Time to rise,
daring a leap in the dark.
Now that you're here and remind me
to love this life,
so good - I lightened my heart,
and I will tell everyone

Once I was young, never unsure, free from all doubts, fear and failure.
All that I've done, thought I did right, people who cared, I put aside.
'bout not a thing, I gave a damn, later I saw, something was wrong, thorned like a rose, I felt alone aching for you, bringing me home

Time to rise,
daring a leap in the dark.
Now that you're here and remind me
to love this life,
so good - I lightened my heart,
and I will tell everyone

Years that passed by, I realise I'm not immortal, I am not wise.
Now I am old but you're still with me, holding oh hands, embracing the tree.ì

Time to rise,
daring a leap in the dark.
Now that you're here and remind me
to love this life,
so good - I lightened my heart,
and I will tell everyone

Time to rise,
daring a leap in the dark,
and I won't ever forget that I love this life, cutting my name into the bark and you should tell everyone