

Redemption

Krampus

Thousand years of evolution to reach this final stage praising yourself to be the elected race civilized and cultured in a perfect shape
Your Metropolis are built by greedy in the cronyism for the fools
Over the mortal remains of virtue , the foundations sink in ignorance
Your lazy indifference is the fuel of this engine
It starts from you
this viral prophecy
this day of reckoning
your redemption
Aren't you tired
of this hypocrisy
To be deceived
and let your sloth
to choose for you
You are chained to columns made of pledges in the temple of control.

From their golden seats they herd the great flock in the sheepfold of unawareness
You grew swallowing injustice at the banquet of the chance
You swig gal from glasses offered by the smiles of who achieved and not deserved
Your lazy indifference is the fuel of this engine
It starts from you
this viral prophecy
this day of reckoning
your redemption
Your lazy indifference is the fuel of this engine
It starts from you
this viral prophecy
you have to face
